And loads of originality,

If you are called on to unmask the personality, and you give the right name, your expenses at the dance for you and your date will be refunded, and your cokes, as well as cookies, will be on the house.)

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS HELP DESERVING STUDENTS GET HIGHER EDUCATION

Many Are Available Right Now!

Many students here at Conrad feel that college scholarships are not for them. They can't be farther from the truth, because many college scholarships, too many to list, are now available to students both on the area and national level. Sometimes industrial, patriotic, and civic groups offer valuable scholarships, which can be used at any college. Scholarships are given on the national, regional, local, and individual basis and range from full tuition and board to nominal aid.

If you are interested in a scholarship, but don't know which particular scholarship, check either the bulletin boards or the files in the guidance office, or read the newspapers or magazines in the library. If you know which scholarship you desire, look in the catalogues, or write to the admission director of that college, asking for detailed information.

The scholarships are given on the basis of academic aptitude, scholastic achievement, extra-curricular activities, the results of college board examinations, and need for financial aid. After the examination, a personal interview is asked of each applicant, and the candidates are screened.

As an example, the University of Delaware has many scholarships now currently held by the students in the University. A few of these scholarships are the Alumnae Association Scholarships for Women, among them the Winifred J. Robinson Scholarship and (Continued on Page 2)

PTA CHEERS GYMNASTICS CLUB DEBUT

Entertainment for the February meeting of the P.T.A. was provided by Conrad's newly formed gymnastics club. The club exhibited work on the mats and parallel bars and constructed pyramids.

The girls began the show with several different types of forward and backward rolls, cartwheels, front overs, splits, headstands, and flips.

The boys continued with stunts on the parallel bars. This included front leaning rest, series of crossriding seats, various mounts and dismounts, shoulder stands, backward and forward rolls and different balancing figures.

The group concluded with the constructing of pyramids which depict many things in art and literature. Pyramids are formed for balance, strength, poise, and aesthetic beauty.

As a finale, two outstanding members of the club, Nancy Williams and Ken Jester, executed a routine in tumbling, depicting strength, balance, skill and form.

Those members who participated in the demonstration are: Kay Scarborough, Joan Wilkinson, Kaye Squires, Sylvia Taylor, Li Huber, Joyce Fenimore, Donna Fernigan, Mary Glynn, Nancy Williams, Bill Smith, Bob Downes, Ken Jester, Stoney Sarver, John Simpler, Ed Scott, George Fisher, Leroy Anthony, Dick Rutter, Dennis Wehde, Eddie Rembecki, Dick Greenhill, Jerry Quigg, and Abram Hayden.

Mr. W. Calvin Wood directed the exhibition, the first of its kind to be held at Conrad.

Junior Class Nabs Lion's Share

On January 12 the officers of the Student Council, President Roger Smith, Vice-President Eileen Kelly, Secretary Ann Kenney, and Treasurer Fred Burns, aided by Donald Bergner, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, met in conference with the representatives of all the clubs and organizations that desired to obtain money from the Student Activity Fund. The representatives stated their reasons why they thought they deserved the amount of money they asked for. "The Hungry Five," an ensemble, will provide a few laughs along with some good music. This group is composed of Alan Start, bass; Bob Payson and Barry Morrison, trombone; Marvin Perry and Ted Martin, clarinet; and Dick Martin, trumpet. WHAT IS STUDENT GOVERNMENT DAY?

On March 18 the Student Council and the John Shilling Chapter of the Future Teachers of America will co-sponsor Student Government Day at Conrad. This occasion is no different from any other day except that certain seniors will take over the job of teaching on that particular Friday. Some of you who are new at Conrad may ask, "Just what is the purpose of Student Government Day?" Others might exclaim, "Oh Boy! We get to run the school!"

First of all, Student Government Day is not only a chance for students to see what a teacher experiences daily, but it also shows the faculty how well we, young men and women, can shoulder our responsibilities.

Second, we won't run the school; that's not our objective. We, student body and student faculty, prove to our teachers and ourselves that we have learned through the school's help to stand on our own two feet and work together as the future leaders and followers of tomorrow. We try to impress on the faculty, through our attempts on that day, that their efforts have not been in vain.

In the past this day has proven its value and has been beneficial to students and teachers. The administration, along with the faculty, has been pleased with results in past years. We hope the results of this year's Student Government Day will be as beneficial. It's up to us.

—Nancy Williams

SENIORS CHOOSE KATHY SCHULZ FOR GOOD CITIZENSHIP AWARD

Kathy Schulz, because of her outstanding work in community and school activities, has been chosen to receive the Girls Good Citizenship Award of the Senior Class. At graduation Kathy will be presented with a Good Citizenship certificate and pin.

Annually the Daughters of the American Revolution conduct a Good Citizenship Contest in all the senior high schools of the state. Three girls from the senior class are elected by their classmates on the basis of certain qualifications.

The first of these qualifications is dependability, which includes loyalty, truthfulness, and punctuality. She must be courteous, considerate and able to cooperate with others. A charming personality, self control, and the ability to assume responsibility are also prime factors. Last but not least she must have an unselfish interest in her community, nation, family and school. After the class has chosen three girls, the faculty then chooses one of these to represent the school.

Kathy's community activities are great in number. She is a member of the choir of the St. Andrews Episcopal Church and has been a member of the 4-H Club for four years. In 1953 she won the State Dairy Foods Team Demonstration Contest and in 1954 she won the State Girls 4-H Public Speaking Contest. In 1952 Kathy was the winner of the Daughters of American Colonists State Essay Contest on the American Flag. In 1953 she was a member of the Physical and Mental Health Committee of the 3rd Annual Conference of Delaware's Commission on Children and Youth.

MR. LONG NAMED ASSISTANT PRINCIPAL

Former Conradian is New Ag Head

A sure sign of Conrad's growth is the establishment of the new office of Assistant Principal. Darrell F. Long, previously head of our agriculture department, was selected by the Board of Trustees to assist Mr. Cummings. A graduate of the University of Delaware and Temple University, Mr. Long first came to Conrad 17 years ago. During the war years he served as Superintendent of Schools in Middletown and worked with state agriculture agencies.

Robert Charles Peoples (on the right), our new brown-haired brown-eyed agriculture teacher has replaced Mr. Long. (Sorry girls, he's married!) A former Conrad graduate, Mr. Peoples studied agriculture under Mr. Long (and, incidentally, played football here, too). His education and football were continued at the University of Delaware, from which he graduated in 1954. Two years in the Air Force interrupted his studies at the University of Delaware. Mr. Peoples's new duties include heading Conrad's agriculture department and sponsoring the Future Farmers of America.

had met once a week at different schools for rehearsals with various school directors. A varied and satisfying program was presented, with Miss Read doing the honors as Mistress of Ceremonies.

On Feb. 24 the Bell Telephone Company presented a skit describing the right and wrong way to apply for a job.

Ann Shaeffer, Nancy Cassell and Eddie Hughes were in charge of opening exercises.

THE ROVING REDSKIN

(Charles Jackson)

Do you have a pet peeve? This was one of the two "world-shaking" questions posed for several Conradians during the past month by your Roving Redskin. And, though it is not hard to understand why, most of the Conradians interviewed had one pet peeve in common. Yes, you've guessed it—homework. It seems the majority can manage to endure smart-alecks, having to be in early on Saturday night, and even long drawn out lectures on the Atomic Theory, but there is no pill that is harder to swallow than the old universal nemesis, homework.

Other pet peeves that were mentioned ranged from old ladies in the movies who tattle to the usher, to people who get peeved at pets.

A few specific ones were:

Jimmy Strickland — Guys who cause the most trouble in class and are liked best by the teacher.

Jean Nixon — Boys who think they're better than girls.

Ann Mashburn—Hot Rod Talk.

Kathleen Kinnel — When people ask if I'm Robin's sister.

Donnie Gregg — Julius Caesar.

Jack DeLancey—Women drivers.

Joan Ewing — Girls who brag about the boys they go out with.

Virginia Van Vechten — Bleached hair.

Lee Collins—Boys in general.

Charles Ford—Reckless drivers.

Bill Smith — Overcrowded gym classes.

Jim McGuinness—Dirty cars.

Sue Nichols—People with closed eyes and mind and an open mouth.

Audrey Stewart — Valences (in chemistry).

Teachers who act like teenagers, people who are late, writing letters, snobs, getting dressed in trailers, hypocrites, gossip, and just plain mud are some of the other varying peeves of our Conrad guys and gals.

The second question asked was a real dilly, as were some of the answers. The question was "With whom would you like most to be stranded on a deserted isle?"

Of course, as might be expected, there were scads of answers such as Marilyn Monroe, Tony Curtis, Debra Paget, Roy Calhoun, Rock Hudson, Donald O'Connor, Eddie Fisher, Rita Hayworth and even an Aly Kahn. And to mention all the "steadies" who would like to be stranded, the Smoke Signal would have to start a "Dear Phoebe" column.

But some answers were real "gone" like that of the senior boy who would like to be stranded on a deserted isle with his pet chameleon and the Pyle sisters (to take care of the chameleon, of course). A few wisecracks presented very practical answers like that of Rodney Allen who would like to be stranded with Florence Chadwick, so that she could carry him home on her back. (Poor Flo.)

Sophomore Bob Simpson would rather be stranded with someone who could convert salt water into fresh, and Kitty Waggaman will make a handsome admiral with a boat. Eddie Hughes would be satisfied to be stranded with his pet monkey and his girl friend, so the monkey could climb the trees, throw down the coconuts, and his girl could open them.

Marcia Harmon would prefer to be alone with her cat, while Senior Davine Weber wants to be lost with that crazy cat that we see on Bandstand, Thomas Morelli.

Other stranded couples:

Harry Russell—Jane Russell (his cousin, maybe?)

Sophie Pyle — A man with the brains of Einstein, money of Rockefeller, and who looks like Jack Palance.

Neal Ramer—His dead dog, when it dies.

Carol Bishoff—Someone with a Hot Ford!

Anne Covington—Parts of my second period study hall.

Joanne Cannon—The Roving Redskin - - - -WHAT?!!! — hey, that's me!

Well kids, I'll be seeing you next month, but right now I'm roving off to find that deserted isle!!!

There are thousands of scholarships now available throughout the country, and there are sure to be several from the college of your choice. Band Concert

This year the A Cappella choir will break away from a formal presentation to present a musical skit featuring Dick Chambers as a young man who forsakes love for travel and Joyce Rhoades as the girl who changes his mind. In a more serious vein the choir will sing several religious numbers featuring Carol Hudon, Elva Jean Brown, and Jean Nixon as soloists.

"Way Out West" will be the theme of a routine by the twirlers to prove that they can dance as well as twirl. In costumes that they made the girls will perform in good ole western style.

Much of the credit for this show must go to Mr. C. Richard George, director of the band and choir. Mr. George has done a fine job in preparing his units for the concert and deserves much applause for his patience during hectic rehearsals. Miss Eleanor Plunkett, adviser to the twirlers, also deserves acclaim for making the routines so fine.

For an evening of "sure-fire" fine entertainment, be sure to include in your plans either tomorrow or Friday night Conrad High's Winter Band Concert for 1955.

TEENAGE ETIQUETTE

By Mary Kay Doherty

Question: When walking to a seat or table in a restaurant or theater, who goes first?

Answer: The girl would go before her escort if there is an usher. In the case of a restaurant she would also go first if there is a head waiter or host. In both cases, if there is no one to direct her, the gentleman should lead the way.

Question: In the case of introduction, where one person is older than the other, who is presented first?

Answer: The younger person is ALWAYS presented to the older person.

Question: When is it proper to begin eating your meal at a dinner party?

Answer: It is proper to start eating your meal when your host starts, unless directed otherwise by your host.

Question: After enjoying a friend's hospitality for a weekend or any length of time, what is expected of you?

Answer: You are most certainly expected to write a "Bread and Butter" note—that is, a note telling your host or hostess how much you enjoyed the hospitality, and how grateful you are.

Question: When trying to get in touch with someone on the telephone and you find the person is not at home, is it proper not to leave your name?

Answer: It is very poor manners not to leave your name; otherwise, it may take some time for the person to get in touch with you because he does not know who called. He will wonder why no name was left.

To the reader:

Leave any questions concerning manners and etiquette (particularly for teenagers) in Mr. Baird's mailbox or hand to Mary Kay Doherty or Jerry Bubb, editors of this new Smoke Signal column.)

The 'Skins are on the warpath this year with an 8 and 8 record with 2 games left to play, as this column goes to press. Coach Michael Visnovsky has put real work into this club and it looks like his efforts are to be well rewarded. Many times the going has been rough but the boys have shown their ability and fine sportsmanship at all times.

The outstanding game of the year, without a doubt, was the 62-63 win over the Wildcats of Howard High. The Wildcats up to this point had a 12 and 1 record. The Redskins in this game showed the kind of ball they are capable of playing. Ray Lynch, who moved up from the J.V.'s, has proved to be a valuable asset to the team both offensively and defensively.

The boys made a wise choice in their Captain this year, Ron Baunchalk. Ron has contributed much to the team's spirit and drive.

Others to be commended for their fine playing this year are George Gardner, Stan Macel, Jim Hackman, John Narvel, Jim Strickland and Fred Burns.

The scoring field is led by George Gardner with 219 points and runnerup John Narvel with 174.

Mr. Visnovsky and the boys should be congratulated on the fine ballplaying that they have shown us throughout the season. It isn't by numbers of games won that a fighting ball club is always measured.

GIRLS BREAK 5 YEAR RECORD OF VICTORY WITH ROCKY SEASON

Inexperienced Team Loses All But One

The fabulous record is broken! For the past five years Conrad's girls' basketball team has been undefeated, but this year the team has only racked up one victory out of nine attempts.

The members of the team are all new when it comes to working together and this may be one of the reasons why they didn't win so handily this season.

There are five seniors on the team, Ann Horisk, Pat Greenhill, Lois Clugston, Joan Owens, and Joyce Rhoades. The two juniors are Nancy Williams, Joanna Blake, and the only sophomore is Elizabeth Huber. Ann Horisk sunk 90 points but, due to an injury, she didn't play in the remaining games. This prevented her breaking her last year's record of 105 points.

Joanna Blake, a new student at Conrad, totaled 98 points in six games.

The Junior Varsity won two games out of nine.
